

Storytelling Series with Art Design Chicago: Jon Cates and Jeffrey Daniels

🕒 DECEMBER 9, 2018 11:00 AM - 12:00 PM 📍 DRAWING ROOM LIBRARY

Although Chicago is not often thought of as an epicenter for new media art, technology, or industry, the city was home to some of the earliest and most important experiments in new media in the late 20th century. This largely untold story of Chicago's role in the history of new media is illuminated in the exhibition, Chicago New Media 1973-1992, presented by Video Game Art Gallery as part of Art Design Chicago. The exhibition's curator Jon Cates talks with artist Jeffrey Daniels about the legacy of Chicago's pioneers and their influence on digital art practice today.

This complimentary event will take place in the Drawing Room Library at 11:00AM with seating first come, first served.

Free RSVP

Jon Cates is Associate Professor of Film, Video, New Media and Animation, Art History, Theory and Criticism at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago. His writing, which focuses on experimental forms of Media Arts and Media Art Histories, can be found in numerous print and online publications. His experimental New Media, Noise and curatorial/organizational projects are presented internationally and widely available online. Cates is the curator of Chicago New Media 1973-1992, organized by Video Game Art Gallery and currently on view at Gallery 400 through December 15.